

3-week course

APPLICATION BOOTCAMP

Making applications is like advertising: Our 3-week course is aimed at job seekers who are already familiar with design programs and have installed them on their computers. In the course you will learn how to design a convincing advertising campaign and apply the techniques for your application. This means you will analyse your skills and your target group, carry out a market analysis and develop an idea for the application campaign. The implementation is largely independent: Key visual, letter of motivation, CV, website, video, social media. You will be supported throughout the course by advertising professionals, designers and HR specialists, but there will be no software

YOU WORK IN THREE PHASES

CONCEPT

Product analysis, market analysis, main message, idea

REALISATION:

Copywriting, design, web, social media, video

FINALISATION:

Test application, presentation, interview training, test interview

OUR METHOD:

Learning by doing: Individual coaching and team workshops combined with microlearning and independent learning. Each participant enjoys 20 minutes of personal coaching daily. This approach ensures effective results through personal support and collaborative learning.

Helping you to help yourself: We provide you with the tools and instruments; you implement everything yourself. This allows you to adjust your campaign as needed.

Coached by industry experts: Practical experience and theoretical knowledge.

IMPLEMENTATION AND DURATION:

Implementation exclusively online. 3 weeks of 5 days. Workshops and coaching take place from 9.00 a.m. to 12.00 p.m. In the afternoon, the participants work independently on their projects.
